Volume 36

The Spirit of American Youth Is Found

"The Spirit of a People Is Disclosed by the Education of Its Youth" reads the familiar saying over the stage of the school auditorium. And the American spirit is disclosed at Highland Park, as students receive the education and training which later will make them intelligent citizens.

The student is offered many roads to good citizenship, for Scot-land boasts high scholastic standards, a superior sports department, and many fine clubs. Scots learn responsibility through outstanding academic training, loyalty through support of school and team, and leadership through the varied organizations.

As they leave Hi Park, graduates possess the qualities which will make many of them mature, respected individuals in college and in later life.

The 1959 Highlander will record the spirit of American youth in action at Highland Park. Whether at a football game or in a classroom, at a dance, or during the morning devotional, this spirit is always present.

Mrs. Williams confers with Mr. Wiseman.

The senior class dedicates The 1959 Highlander to Ben W. Wiseman in appreciation for his thirty years as Scot-land's principal. During that time Highland Park has developed into an outstanding high school with superior scholastic standards.

Coming to Highland Park High School in 1928, Mr. Wiseman took over as principal only five years after the high school was founded, when it was held in the present Junior High building. A man of interesting background, he had served as a captain in World War I, was Dean of Weatherford Junior College, and had taught French—for some time he kept one French class at Hi Park in spite of his many tasks as principal.

Upkeep of the school grounds is one of Mr. Wiseman's chief interests.

Senior Class Honors Principal

BEN W. WISEMAN

Mr. Wiseman is the source of many ideas which have added to Hi Park's stature. Believing in aid to the individual student, he largely is responsible for the emphasis which the school places on reading. The reading room and machines in the new wing are part of his plan.

Another point of the genial principal's individual attention program is his concern for the "underachiever," or the student who is not fulfilling his learning capacities. Working with the teachers of these pupils, he takes a personal interest in each one.

Among the organizations which Mr. Wiseman is credited with introducing are the Student Council, the Key Club, and the departmental divisions.

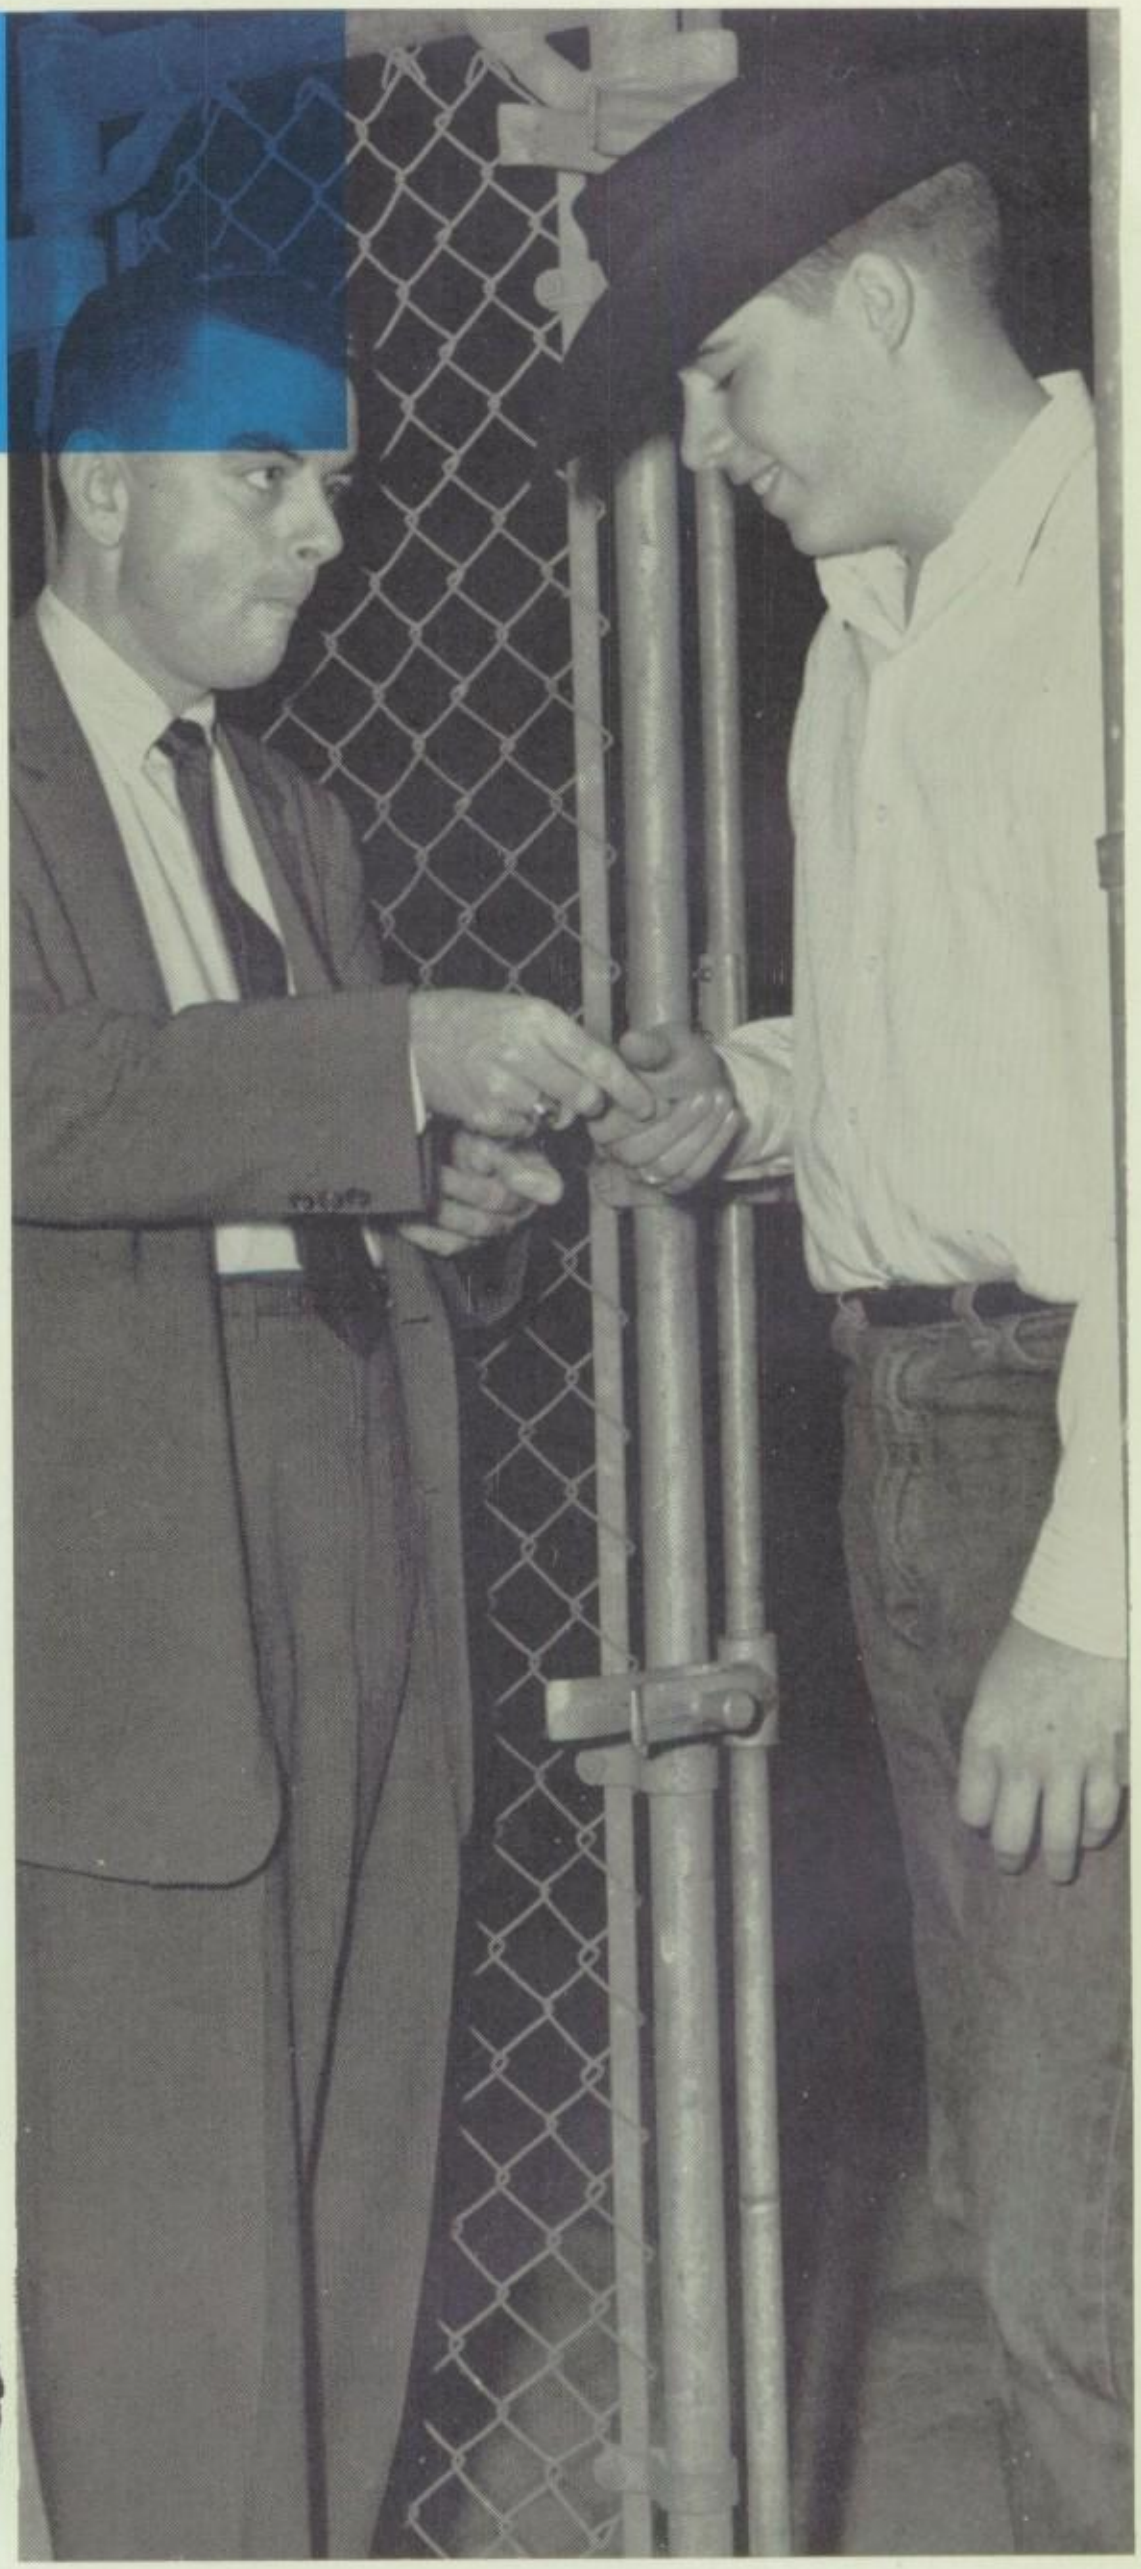
Mr. Wiseman also has pursued many hobbies, among them woodcarving, fishing, and golf. As an amateur horticulturist, he has always believed that a pleasant setting and high scholastic standards go hand in hand. The result of this outlook is a fine campus and an outstanding school.

Spirit . . .
Through Education

- Administration
- Faculty

Studying, learning, and forming individual opinions, the Hi Park student prepares himself for his role as a mature American.

With the advantages of a highly-ranked school and a superior faculty, each Scot has equal opportunity to benefit from his three high school years. And most do, for 97 per cent of each senior class goes on to college.



Another win for the Scot gridders as Mr. Monroe and Coach Jones hand co-captain Dave Duwe his victory apple.

Promotes Progress

An enormous program of school expansion and the readjustment and improvement of teachers' salaries are the most outstanding examples of progress in the Highland Park Independent School District since Frank Monroe became superintendent five years ago.

Weekly meetings with principals and staff members of the Hi Park schools and monthly meetings with the school board keep the conscientious director alert to the individual and collective needs of the schools.

Scot spirit is a primary concern of Mr. Monroe, as he originated the custom of the victory apples following each gridiron win. The enthusiastic administrator is a never-failing Scot supporter who appears at every pep rally and game and attends many assemblies.

Recognized as a leader among Texas school superintendents, Mr. Monroe has served as president of the Texas Association of School Administrators. The genial leader also belongs to many organizations which deal with administration and guidance.

Board Hears Reports on School System

Members of Highland Park's school board hear Mr. Wiseman's report on the National Merit Scholarship exams.

Representing the taxpayers in the Park Cities, the Board of Trustees is the final word on matters ranging from salaries to school expansion.

Elected for three-year terms, the seven school board members meet once a month to hear reports from various school principals on different phases of their school programs.

Mr. Wiseman chats with faculty members during his lunch hour.

Supports Standards

Maintaining that a school must have both a pleasing appearance and high scholastic standards, Ben W. Wiseman has insured both in his thirty years as principal.

Scholastically, Mr. Wiseman has encouraged departmental development, and has made many suggestions which have become a part of school tradition. Always interested in good ideas for improvement, the open-minded principal is now concentrating his attention on those students who aren't living up to their potential. Individual conferences with teachers and weekly faculty meetings are other features through which Mr. Wiseman has made Hi Park an outstanding Texas high school.

Beautiful school grounds are also Mr. Wiseman's concern. Artful landscaping and constant upkeep of the school building create a more pleasing atmosphere in which to work, believes Mr. Wiseman.

"Could our club reserve the small auditorium for a meeting next Tuesday at activities period?" is a typical example of the queries which Vice-Principal C. D. Bowlby must answer every day. Insuring Hi Park's smooth operation, Mr. Bowlby takes care of the many details and problems which exist in a large high school.

The discipline and participation of almost fourteen hundred Scots, along with arranging the school calendar and scheduling club and group meetings, are other parts of the over-all picture of Mr. Bowlby's duties.

There was a song in the air as the P-TA used a musical theme at their monthly meetings this year. Dr. John D. Moseley, President of Austin College, Mrs. Charles G. Cullum, newspaper columnist, and Mrs. Charles Meeker, wife of the vice-president of the State Fair Musicals, were among the speakers featured at the meetings.

"And he's over for the touchdown," echoed through Hi Park's halls as the Dads' Club was treated to films of the Corpus Christi Miller game last November. A Christmas presentation by the Lads and Lassies was also on the year's agenda. This service group includes dads of high school, junior high, and grade school students, and boasts a membership of 1,901.

"Whan that Aprille with his shoures soote . . ." are the first words of wisdom issuing from the mouths of the new seniors in the fall, as they embark on a year of English literature. Juniors study American authors and write vocational themes, while the sophomores read such novels as Silas Marner and A Tale of Two Cities. The four required years of English fulfill college requirements.

"Experience is the best teacher" is the motto of Hi Park's journalism class. Using The Bagpipe as a workshop, the cubs must have at least ten inches of print in the bi-weekly newspaper each semester. Interviewing celebrities, covering football games, and touring a newspaper plant add spice to the course.

Debating, interpretative reading, acting, and discussion spotlight the five speech classes at Hi Park. Speech 4, a new course, features advanced acting and presents a major dramatic production in the spring.

Bonnie Lund, Charles Martin, Dobby (Robin Hood) Sherman, and Liebe Mayo dramatize an old English ballad in Miss Watkins' senior English class.

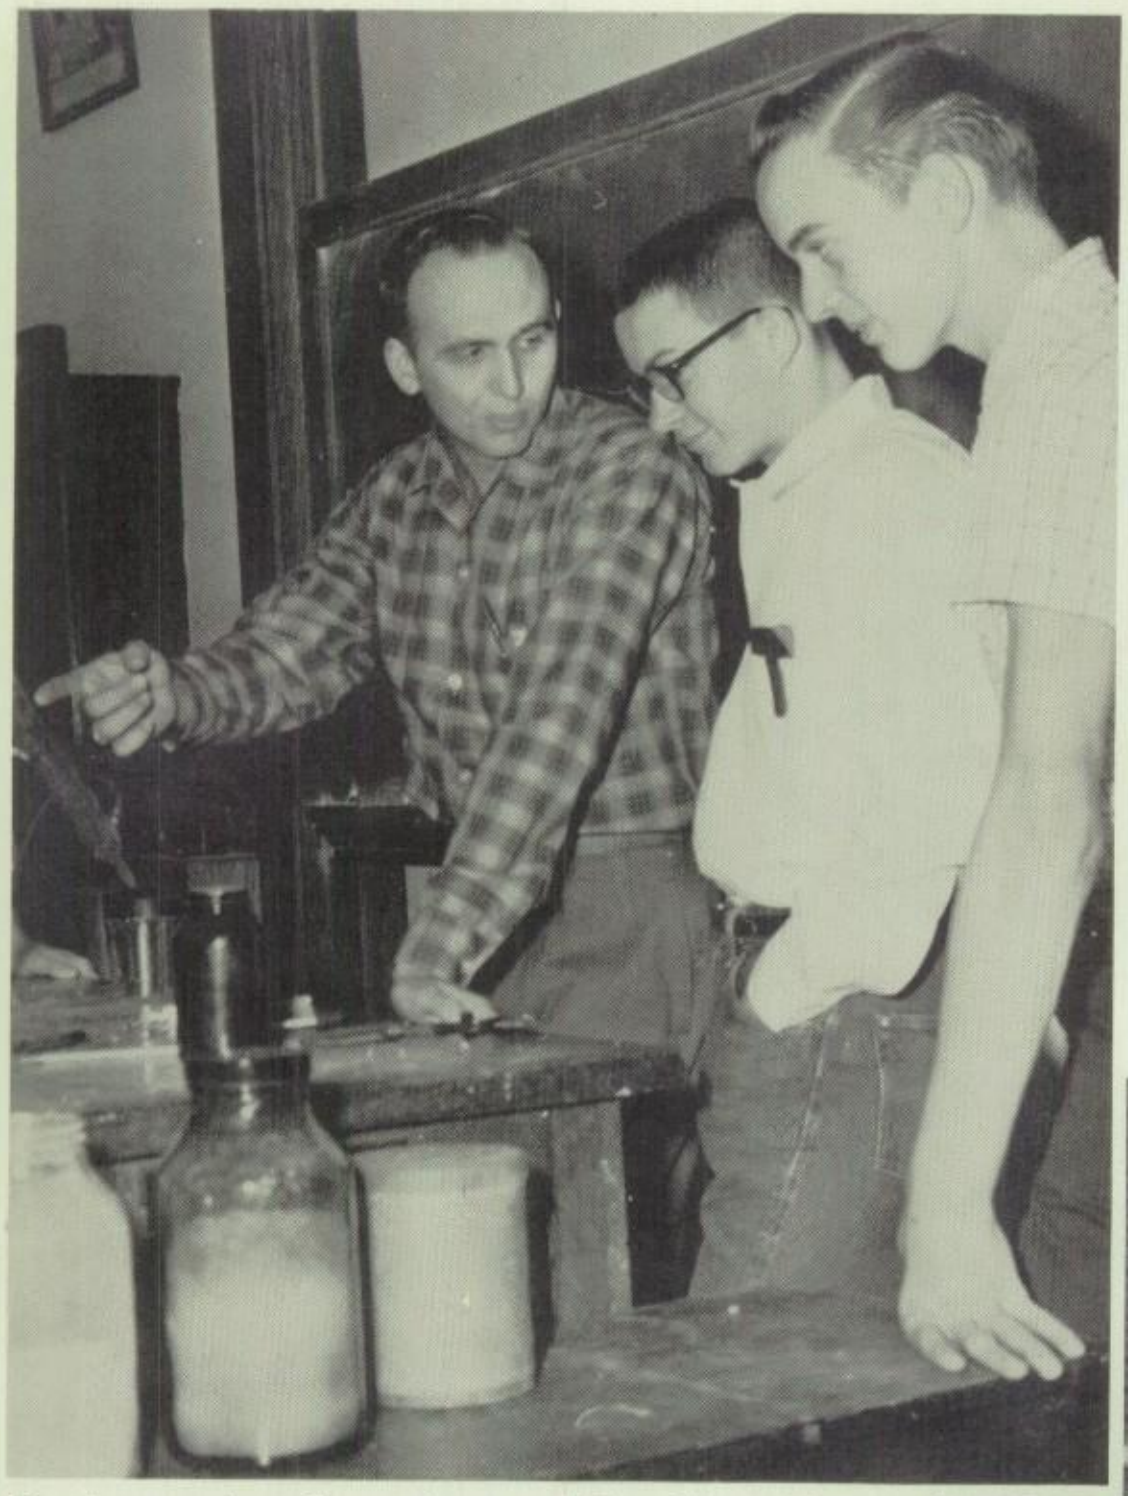
Confusing? Miss Hardin explains sequence of tenses to Latin 3 students Mike and Steve Levy.

Playing "I've Got a Secret" in Spanish, dramatizing Latin plays, and writing to French pen pals offer variety throughout the year's schedule in Hi Park's three foreign language courses.

Daily recitations, translations, and board drills develop linguistic skills in Spanish, Latin, and French classes. The two required years of foreign language include grammar and vocabulary.

Cicero and The Aeneid comprise the advanced years of Latin, while junior and senior Spanish include novels, short stories, practical Spanish, and grammar.

An added feature for advanced Latin students is the Latin Club. Meeting the first and fourth week of each six weeks, the club includes skits and speakers, and features a Latin banquet in the fall and a spring picnic.



Chemistry students Jimmy Jones and True Howard listen as Mr. Sigler explains distillation of water.

"Second biggest, huh?" ruminates Mr. Akin as he reads a newspaper bought while he attended scientific workshop in Fairbanks, Alaska.

Lab work, lab work, and more lab work is the formula for Hi Park's science department. From dissecting frogs to compounding acids, biology, chemistry and physics experiments provide practical application of classroom knowledge.

Budding biologists learn the most intricate parts of grasshoppers, frogs, leaves, and flowers through classroom and lab study during Biology 1. The second semester is devoted to study of the human body and its functions.

Qualitative analysis, valence, and atomic theory are featured in chemistry, while physics explores dynamics, gravitation, radiation, and electricity.

Biology leaf collections, chemistry themes and reports, and physics projects are among the activities which add variety to the course.

"Eureka! I've got it," shouts sophomore Pat Burns as she snags a butterfly for her biology bug . . . oops . . . insect collection.

Ergs, slugs, or joules? Mr. Cutler helps physics students John DeSalme and John Patterson with a problem.

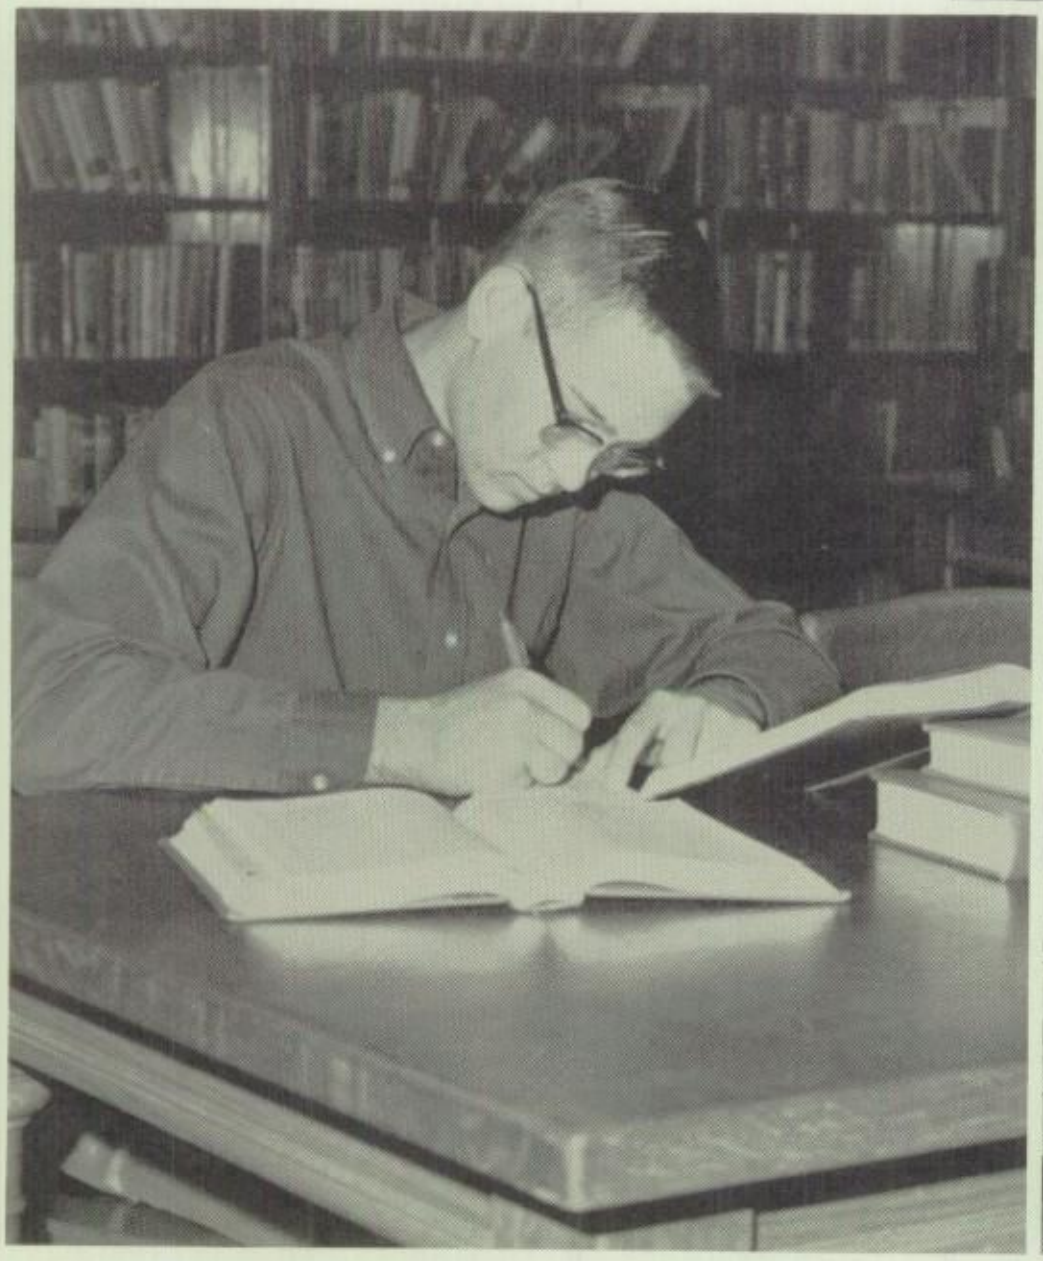
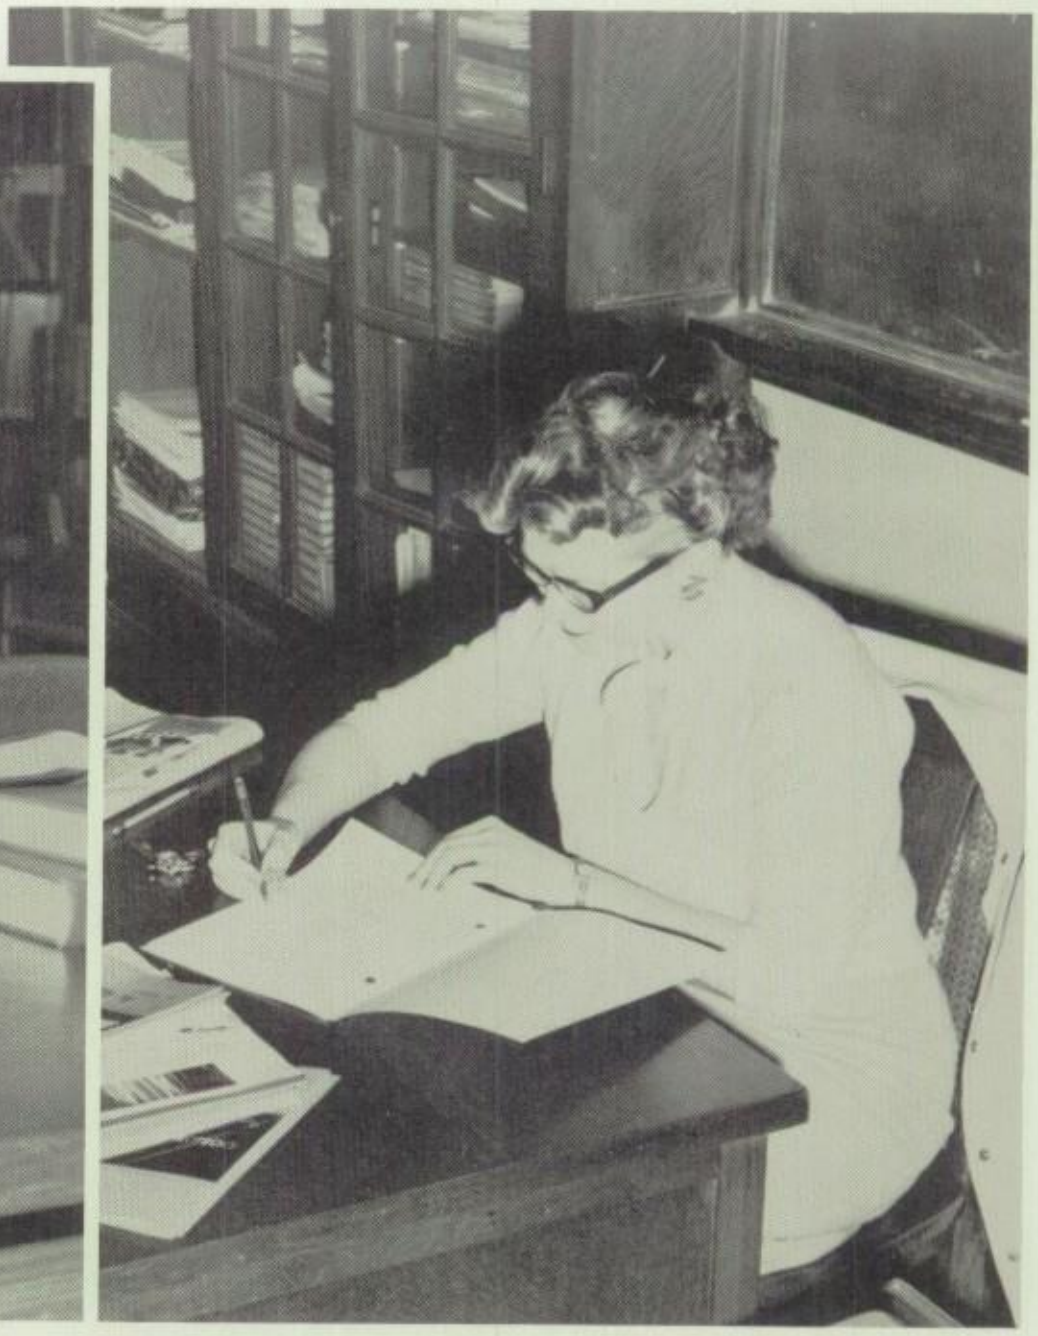
History Students Slave Over Themes



Grim-faced student John Colwick slaves over hot index cards as he writes a history term theme.



Even grimmer-faced history teacher Mrs. Cockrell grades a term theme.

"Now when you get down to the fine print . . ." Miss Orr tells her commercial law class as she shows them an insurance policy.

Economics students Bob Garrett and Mike Henderson learn what makes a bank tick on their field trip to the Texas Bank and Trust.

Young Economists Make Investments

"My gosh, I lost $10,000 on the stock market this week," is a groan that may arise from the economics classroom. In this one-semester course students make imaginary investments in the stock market and compare the United States' economic system with those of foreign nations.

Civics, another one-semester course, deals mainly with our federal, state, and municipal governments. This subject will be required by Texas law in two years.

Congested libraries are commonplace each year when term theme time rolls around. American history students must compose two of these papers in addition to their regular classwork. Current events, weekly reading reports, and a study of the U. S. Constitution also supplement the regular study. World history from prehistoric man to the present day is also offered at Hi Park.

Scot-land's commercial law students study old legal cases to acquaint themselves with America's law system. At the end of each semester a mock trial is held to put to use the ideas they have learned.

Films and lectures by well-known psychiatrists and doctors are used in psychology to study the difference between this and other sciences.

Mr. Binnion explains the mysteries of the voting machine to Jack Allday and the civics class.

Parallel Parking Proves Difficult

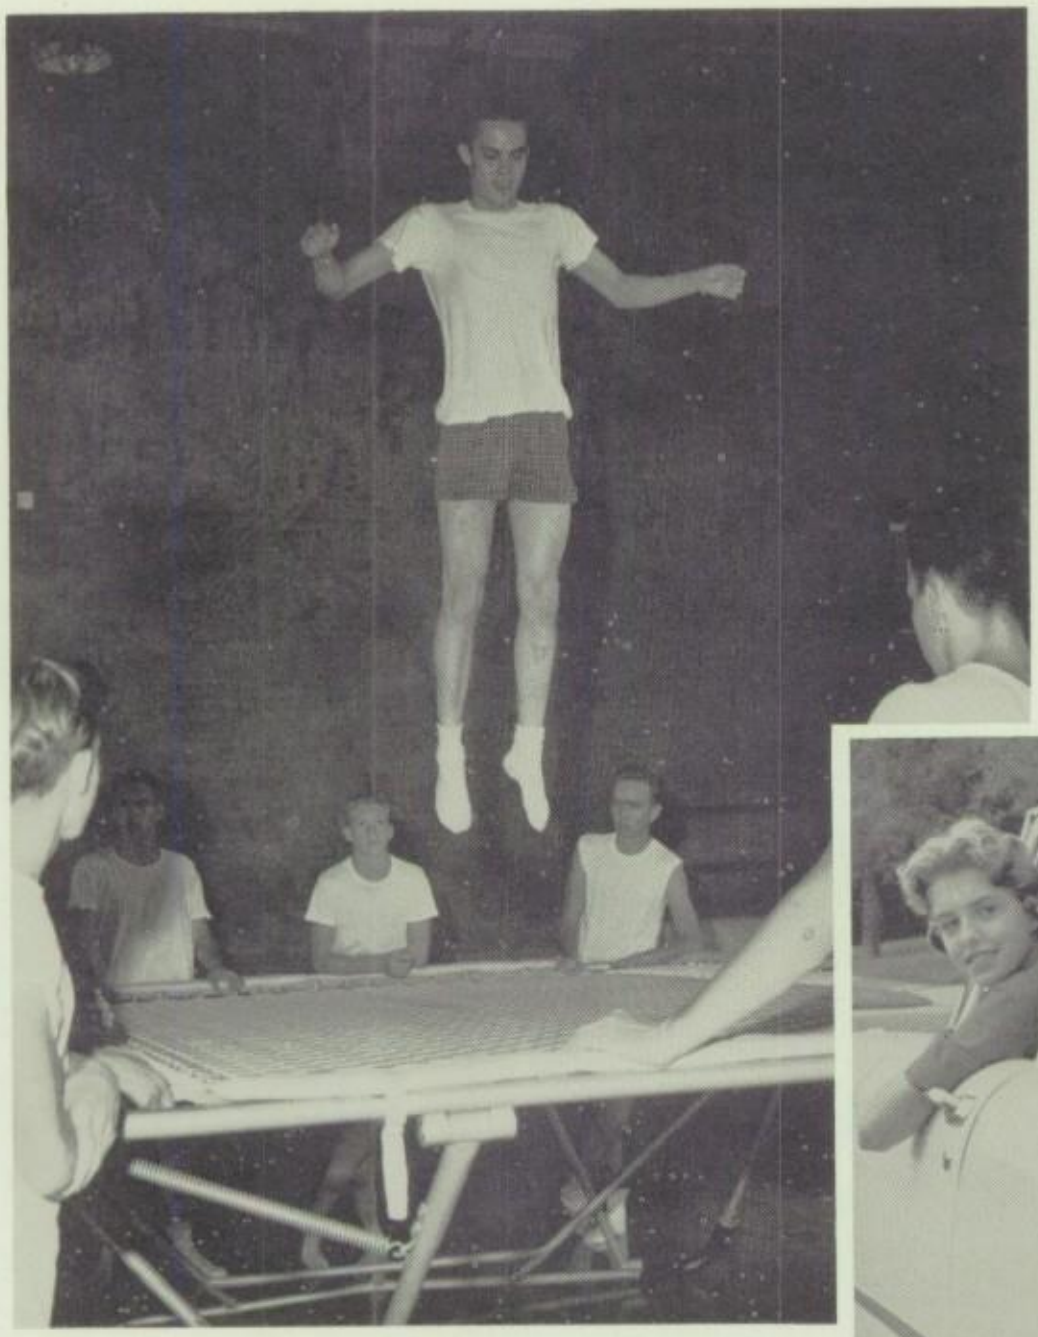
When parking on an upgrade should you (a) turn your wheels toward the curb (b) away from the curb (c) straight ahead? This question is typical of the queries on the written driving test given to safety education students by members of the Texas Rangers. The written test and the driving test climax 30 hours of classroom study and supervised driving.

The tramp-tramp-tramp of military boots is heard on the athletic field every Tuesday as the cadets in the Reserve Officers' Training Corps march through their weekly parade. Cadets find out what army life is like as they study marksmanship, first aid, tactics, and drill.

A trampoline, the latest addition to the gym equipment, was given a workout by both boys and girls in the trampoline classes offered for the first time last fall. Calisthenics is featured in both gym classes, while the boys participate in the regular seasonal sports, tumbling, and weight lifting. Girls' gym includes tenniquoits, volleyball, speedball, basketball, and baseball.

"One-two-three . . ." groan the girls in third period gym class as they limber up after a summer of relaxation.



"Going up . . ." David Aechternacht shows 'em how it's done.

Artists and models ply paintbrushes and pose in art courses offered at Hi Park. Drawing, painting, and crafts are the main subjects of the three offered years; lettering, advertising design, and stage display round out the course.

Musical lads and lassies find their place among the members of the band, orchestra, Lads and Lassies, and Highlandaires. Their individual and combined talents are heard at several assemblies each semester. These extracurricular courses provide training and experience for music students.

Typing, stenography, business math, and accounting provide future executives and secretaries with expert business instruction. Classrooms for these subjects are in the wing and contain the latest equipment.

Design, fabrics, and colors, along with food purchasing, meal planning, and nutrition are included in the girls' homemaking courses which are centered around home and family life. Comparable to the homemaking courses are the wood and metal shops for boys. Students taking these courses learn the proper use of both hand and power tools and study application of appropriate wood finishes, cabinet making, and the restoration of antiques.

Deanna Riedel uses the Reader's Guide to find periodicals on subjects from A to Z.

Ailments ranging from a sprained schedule to a sprained ankle are taken care of by the school counselors, librarians, secretaries, and nurse.

The aim of the counseling program is to help each student reach his greatest potential. By giving aid throughout the three years, the counselors help the student to plan his high school program and adjust to new situations. In a student's junior year they help him to make college preparation, while in his senior year he is aided in making vocational plans and obtaining a scholarship.

If you are troubled by term themes or tired blood, the library or the clinic is the place for you. Displaying books from Shakespeare to Saroyan, the library is maintained by the librarians and a group of student bibliophiles known as the Library Council. The clinic, run by the school nurse, caters to the ill or injured student.

The victim of a schedule mix-up may find a solution to his problem in the registrar's office, while the tardy student makes his excuses in the attendance office.

Spring Brings

A flurry of poster board and secret plans could mean only one thing—the arrival of spring elections. Candidates for Student Council, Bagpipe, Highlander, and cheerleading positions plotted, planned, connived, and finally emerged with clever skits and a bevy of 8x10 posters.

After two days of frantic campaigning, candidates retired while the student body made its choices. When the results were revealed on Friday afternoon, many were happy, many were sad. But they all agreed that it had been fun.

"I can't believe it!" cried many seniors when '58 graduation arrived on May 28. The last high school days for the seniors had breezed past as they watched the senior play, "Onions in the Stew," one week and attended the annual Junior-Senior Prom the next. The last two weeks of May brought their picnic, honors, baccalaureate, graduation, all-night party, and no final exams.

Non-seniors also partied in spite of the menacing exams. Hi-Lite, spring sports and baseball banquets were among the main attractions. Admitted into the private world of the senior for 30 minutes, the underclassmen watched the Honors Day Assembly, and clapped enthusiastically as Nancy Cotton and Jody Gibbs received the coveted Blanket Award, while Sally Smyser and Sally Barbeck emerged with first and second scholastic honors.

Jarred back to reality by exams, underclassmen welcomed the final bell on May 30. Clutching report cards and divulging summer plans, they took a three-month recess from school.

Midterm Class Presents Comedy

A New England seaport and a Yankee family brought many laughs as the January senior class presented "But Not Goodbye" on November 22.

Directed by Mrs. Mary E. Crow, the play featured Tek Kimbell as Sam Griggs, the troubled father, and Marilyn Caplinger as Amy Griggs, his wife.

Their son Jimmy Griggs (Lance Tarrance) wishes to visit England and study ship building, but complications set in when Mr. Griggs dies. Jimmy's sister Jennifer Griggs (Caroline Herrin) also sees dreams of marrying archaeologist Howard Baker (Brad Freeman) tumble as she and Jimmy discover that their father has left Mrs. Griggs no money.

Little do the Griggs know that the ghosts of Sam Griggs and his seaman father, Benjamin Griggs (Art Henderson), are viewing the scene with dismay. A dishonest friend, Tom Carter (Ronnie Cohen), is concealing the fact that Mr. Griggs and he are partners in a money-making scheme which had paid off.

With support from the bothersome Aunt Lula Humphrey (Sheila Swan), Widow Hooper (Martha McCarty), and Dr. Wilson (Bill Roberson), all works out for the best.

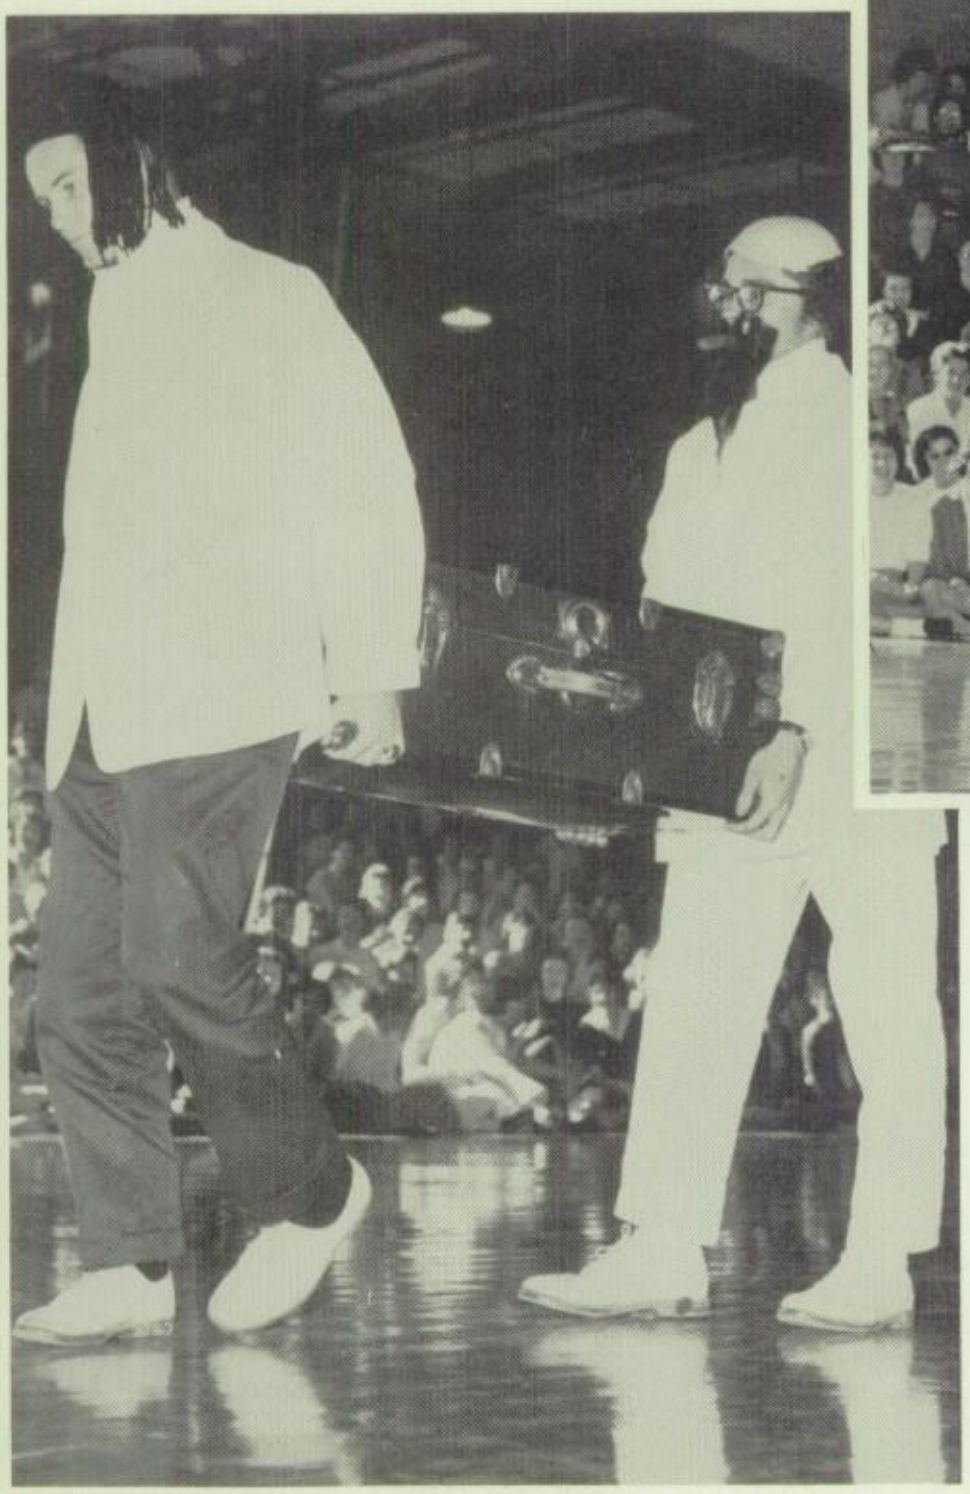
Bill Roberson consoles widow Marilyn Caplinger.



Gravediggers Nancy Lea, Barbie Connell, and Tommy Stewart try to bury Scot spirit at the Denison pep rally.

Social activity and school spirit got into full swing this month. Powder Bowl, the senior play, the Sadie Hawkins dance, and the ROTC Regimental were included in the calendar.

School spirit was on the wane in early November, as the student body showed a definite tendency to take winning for granted. But through the efforts of the Student Council and the cheerleaders, the school was really "up" for the Garland game.

Phillip Ladewig (Larry) and Buddy Clark (Curly) cut capers at the Garland rally.

Exams Usher in

Snow and studying piled up in profusion as January heralded exams and mid-term graduation.

Martha McCarty copped both valedictorian honors and the girls' Blanket Award for the January seniors, while Gerard Rickey took second scholastic honors and Mike Macaulay received the boys' Blanket Award.

The basketball season bounced in as the old term ended, with tournaments and evening games in the gym. Also beginning were tryouts for "The Firefly," the Lads' and Lassies' spring operetta.

Meanwhile, baseball, track, swimming, golf, and tennis teams competed in their first matches.

Student Council

Council Sponsors Exchange Pep Rall

Judy Bagwell, Judy Rager, Ralph Shanks, and Sammy Burford arrive in Florida for a student council convention.

"Would you like to buy a pennant or a fruitcake?" became a familiar question asked by this year's Student Council representatives, as Hi Park's student government sold these two items to raise money for Council purposes.

The Student Council is in charge of conducting spring elections, chartering school clubs, maintaining schedule card files, and publishing the student directory, The Clan. By selling football ribbons and bus caravan tickets, the club strives to promote school spirit and good sportsmanship. It also sponsors three dances each year—the Homecoming dance, the Christmas formal, and the Junior-Senior Prom.

The organization is made up of representatives from each second period class and meets each Monday morning. It backs drives such as Dads' Club, TB Fund, March of Dimes, and Easter Seals.

This year the Council did much to encourage good relations between Highland Park and its football opponents, including an exchange pep rally with Garland. Hi Park was awarded the 7-AAAA Sportsmanship Trophy by the other schools in this district.

Take a large quantity of midnight oil, add a portion of elbow grease, and you have the formula for a potential National Honor Society member. A high grade average and an outstanding record of school service are among the achievements which an NHS scholar must boast. Members are selected by teachers from the high junior and senior honor roll students.

A fall banquet for new members, a spring picnic, two initiations, and the election of officers constituted the NHS schedule.

Underclassman members usher at commencement exercises, baccalaureate services, and the senior plays. The Blanket Award is given by this club to the most outstanding boy and girl in each graduating class.

Candlelight Ceremony Climaxes Initiation

"Strive ever for the best; ever keeping your goal in life in mind." These words from the code of ethics of Quill and Scroll climax a candlelight initiation during which Hi Park journalists become members of the honorary journalistic society. After this ceremony new members receive a gold pin inscribed with the symbols of the organization—the quill and scroll.

The basic qualifications for membership in this club are a scholastic rating in the top third of his class, one semester's work on a publication, and classification of at least a junior.

But beyond this, a candidate must perform many services for his publication, proving himself a dependable and hard-working staff member. Both editorial and advertising staff workers on The Bagpipe and The Highlander are eligible for membership.

Members of the club attend an annual spring banquet and receive the club's international magazine, "Quill and Scroll."

Assemblies and Civic Organizations

Music hath charms—especially when presented by the Lads and Lassies. This 80-member coed choir performs not only for school assemblies but also for various civic organizations. Choir members audition alone or in groups to appear in "specials" for these performances.

At their annual Religious Emphasis Week program the choir sang hymns and spirituals, while serious numbers highlighted the Christmas assembly. A spring program rounded out their school performances. The high point of the Lads and Lassies' year was the March presentation of the operetta "The Firefly."

"Would you like to buy some Christmas cards or stationery?" is a question often asked by these lads and lassies, since they sell as well as sing. Proceeds from these sales go to support the organization and to finance a fall picnic and a spring dinner dance.

Tryouts for new members are held at midterm and at the end of the year and include sight reading and soloing. Members are chosen on the basis of musical ability and grades.

Jeannette Elliott, Betty Ann Becker, Diane Dusek, and Nancy Lea are on their way to present a program.

Girls Attend Picnic, Tea, Dances

"Once upon a time—" relates Kathy Thomas to her young audience at Wesley Community Center.

Amid fried chicken, ants, and soft drinks the Hi-Lites began the year with their annual Big and Little Sister Picnic in August. Hi-Lites is a club open to all Hi Park girls. Programs of various kinds are presented each Tuesday.

Besides the Big and Little Sister Picnic, the social calendar included a Sadie Hawkins Dance, the Mother-Daughter Tea, a spring formal, and a final banquet at which officers for the next year were announced.

Hi-Lite lassies lent their services by working at the Wesley Community Center and assisting welfare organizations in other ways.

Speakers and Films Viewed by Boys

"To create and maintain through the school and community higher standards of Christian character," motto of the Hi-Y, states the objectives of this club. The organization meets each Monday at activities period and is open to all Hi Park boys.

The programs, consisting mainly of guest speakers or films, are planned to be both educational and entertaining. The club is sponsored by the YMCA.

Last fall the Hi-Y joined with Hi-Lites to co-sponsor Religious Emphasis Week.

The adviser of the club is George W. Ruddell.

ll-State Orchestra Musicians

Have instruments, will play. This is the calling card of Hi Park's orchestra. Their season began with performances in the State Fair Auditorium and in a mass orchestra at the Cotton Bowl. These were followed by a fall concert, a Christmas program with the Lads and Lassies, an assembly for junior high, and a formal spring concert.

The 47-piece orchestra also played for both the January and May graduations and in March for the operetta. The Lighthouse for the Blind and Fowler's Home for the Aged were also visited by Hi Park's musicians.

Galveston and the All-State orchestra found nineteen honored Scots in attendance. Members of the Texas Music Education Association orchestra were chosen by judges from tape recordings sent in early in December. After arriving in Galveston, the student musicians auditioned for places and tried out for the All-State orchestra.

A fall picnic aided the orchestra members in getting acquainted while a spring banquet rounded out a busy schedule.

Council Members Assist in Library

Marianne Cooper gives assistance to Scot John DeSalme.

Zymurgy? Where can I find information for a twenty-page theme on zymurgy? With problems like this, Hi Park students turn to the library for an answer. Library Council members are always ready to aid students in their search for information.

The Library Council, a service club made up of pupils who assist in the library, serves to create wide interest in books and co-ordinates activities of classroom and library.

Each year the club attends a fall regional convention and a spring state convention of teenage library workers.

Checking the card catalogues is all in a day's work for Library council members Pam Hemphill and Margie Farrell.

Art Club

Creative Talents Encouraged by Club

Aspiring artists find an outlet for their creative talents each Tuesday at the weekly Art Club meetings. Club members not only do after-school dabbling, but also take field trips to art museums and artists' studios. Demonstrations and talks by various guest artists, some of whom have been former Scots, are included in the busy calendar of the club.

The Art Club is responsible for the design and decoration of stage sets for various programs and the arrangement of art work in display cases about the school.

Several committees coordinate the work and play of the club. Activities are planned by these groups and include a picnic each semester.

Band

Concerts, Half-Time Activitie

Whether at a half-time show, concert, pep rally, or downtown parade, the Highlander Band plays an important role in boosting Scot spirit.

Throughout the year band members perform a full schedule of concerts, football shows, ROTC parades, and work on individual improvement. The band has participated in several music festivals, including Tri-State in Oklahoma, where it received high award ratings in the various phases of musical skill.

Although hard work and hours of rehearsal form a necessary part of their activities, bandsmen find time for relaxation in their annual picnic and banquet, two ROTC Regimental Balls, and—as an innovation this year—the Highlander Band Christmas Dance.

Directed by Col. Harry F. Barton, the band was commanded this season by Drum Major Charles Martin and Executive Officer Elliott Cox.

Future Teachers' Club

Lassies Interested in Teaching

"Will the class please come to order" or "Stick out your tongue and say 'Ahh'" are two expressions that may someday be familiar to girls interested in teaching and nursing careers. These lassies are given the opportunity to learn more about their chosen vocation through the Future Teachers' Club or Future Nurses' Club. These groups are open to all who are interested in one or both of these fields.

Films, discussion groups, and speakers aid future schoolmarms in learning how to teach. The club, sponsored by Miss Hortense Watkins, studies the requirements, advantages, disadvantages, and opportunities in the profession.

During Education Week prospective educators taught in some of their classes to gain experience.

Future nurses attend programs which include lectures by guest speakers from various fields of medicine and films concerning the life and experiences of a nurse. Members also learn by serving in volunteer work at Baylor, Parkland, and St. Paul hospitals.

Summer Supplement for First Time

Mix together pictures, copy, headlines, and captions. Add many hours of work and stir in three deadlines. These are just a part of the ingredients that go into the Scot-land annual, The Highlander.

More pages and a summer supplement were two new additions to the 1959 Highlander. Hi Park's yearbook increased its number of pages in both the editorial and ad sections, while students received the first summer supplement in July.

Phoning seniors about class pictures, and planning the dummy, theme, and cover occupied the staff's summer months. In September members toured Taylor Publishing Company, Highlander printers, to gain information on the lithographing process.

Fall saw underclassmen pictures, the faculty pages, and a section of ads meet a December 8 deadline. Snapshots, seniors, and organizations went in January 31, while the rest of the book was sent to the publishers in March.

Clubs Travel From Dallas to Dublin

Texas—no longer the biggest but still the best! Junior Historical Society members are assured of this after listening to noted speakers and seeing films dealing with Texas, Dallas, and "Big D."

While the Junior Historical Society deals mainly with the surrounding area, those interested in other parts of the world may join the Travel Club. These armchair travelers learn of the people, customs, and traditions of countries all over the world through films, slides, and guest speakers.

Both clubs are sponsored by Mrs. Willene Cockrell and meet one Friday each month. Welfare projects such as a clothing drive for the Big Sisters of Dallas and a Christmas Party at the Wesley Community Center are sponsored by the clubs.

JHS OFFICERS: Judy Webb, secretary; Mary Thompson, historian; Judy Rager, welfare chairman; M. Linda Lewis, president; Sue Simpson, program chairman; Betsy Gable, vice-president.

Classes Conducted Each Week

Offering a program similar to the army basic training, the Hi Park ROTC teaches the cadet leadership as well as respect for authority. Marksmanship, drilling, and care of weapons are among points stressed in the ROTC.

The corps consists of four companies which are directed by the regimental staff. This staff includes a cadet colonel, lieutenant colonel, and four other officers chosen by the ROTC instructors.

Compulsory daily classes stress practical instruction. Visual-aid training is also offered as a part of the ROTC program. Parades and cadet inspections are held each week.

Comdr. F. R. Hightower, USNR, Maj. N. F. Casey, TSGR, Capt. Davis, US Army, M/Sgt. Long and M/Sgt. Sharp of the regular army are the directors of the various activities of the organization.

Marksmanship, Precision Drilling

Col. Pat Haney presides at an officers' meeting.

Bringing prestige to Hi Park's Reserve Officers Training Corps are the Rifle Team and Drill Team. The Rifle Team, composed of boys deemed the "crack shots" of the corps, competes in shooting matches with schools in and around Dallas and with various other schools at the state and national level.

Team members are chosen for military appearance and ability within the corps and, of course, for their skill with a rifle. At the end of the school year letter jackets are presented to those who have maintained high scores throughout the year.

Drill Team activities include serving as honor guard for the company queens at the regimental balls, competition with other schools, and an exhibition during federal inspection.

Drill Team members are selected on the basis of appearance, ability to drill and exercise command, and leadership. Both Rifle and Drill Teams are under the supervision and instruction of M/Sgt. William H. Long.

Fall Queens

Nominees Chosen by Cadets

Hi Park's ROTC presented the Space Age as its theme for the fall Regimental Ball. Rockets and streamers of red, white, and blue carried out this idea in the decorations.

A grand march preceded the presentation of the company, Drill Team, Rifle Team, band, and Regimental Staff queen nominees. During the presentation of the nominees, Hugh Fowler's orchestra played each girl's favorite song.

Announcement and crowning of fall Regimental Queen Merilyn May followed the queen's presentation.

Spring Queens

Stardust shone the night of February 27, in the theme of the spring Regimental Ball and in the eyes of the eight regimental queen nominees.

Several weeks before the dance, queen nominees were chosen to represent each company, the band, Drill Team, Rifle Team, and Regimental Staff.

Spring Regimental Queen Joan Spradlin was crowned following a presentation of each of the nominees. Refreshments were served in the armory, which was open to guests and parents during the ball.

Spirit . . .
Through Sportsmanship

- Boys' Sports
- Girls' Sports

Athletics at Hi Park teach both the player and the spectator the principles of good sportsmanship, a quality desired in every American. This spirit of fair play was practiced so well at Hi Park this year that the school received the District 7AAAA Sportsmanship Trophy.

Six Scots Promote Spirit

Months of hard work mastering old yells and learning new ones, weekly meetings to plan pep rallies, and constant efforts to keep Scot spirit behind all the school sports made up a busy schedule for this year's cheerleaders.

The six Scot representatives went from hard summer practice and a cheerleading workshop to the excitement of the state semi-finals, pep assemblies, bonfires, and after-school rallies during the football season. In rapid succession came the basketball and baseball seasons, which completed the cheerleaders' year.

Hold that pose! Cheerleaders demonstrate their athletic abilities.

"We may be a little bit inexperienced now, but we're going to have a good football team this year," Coach Tugboat Jones forecast on the eve of Hi Park's season opener. The statement proved true as the Scots slashed their way into the state semi-finals, losing their bid for a repeat state championship to Wichita Falls.

Outscored, but not outplayed, the inexperienced Blue-and-Gold lost their opening game to neighbor Thomas Jefferson, 12-6. But this was all the experience the Scots needed, as they bounced back the next week, outclassing the Texarkana Tigers, 32-0.

Mud, Ken Waldrop's running, and more Scot scoring highlighted the Lufkin game, in which the Scots tolled a 47-6 fee from the East Texas Panthers.

"Grr," snarls Waldrop as he sprints for another score in the 74-0 rout of Denton.

Climbing the long ladder toward the state championship, the Scots met Texarkana in the bi-district clash. The Clansmen had beaten the inexperienced Tigers 32-0 earlier in the season, but they faced a much-improved team in this title game. The consistent Scot trio of Gannon, Waldrop, and Urquhart accounted for seven touchdowns among them to bury Texarkana, 46-20.

The Avalanche met Fort Worth Carter-Riverside in the quarter-finals. Carter-Riverside, a dark-horse contender, proved no match for the Scotties. Waldrop crossed the double stripe three times for a 21-0 victory over the Eagles.

Frostbitten fans froze in the cold December air as the fighting Scotties dropped the semi-finals match to Wichita Falls 22-14. The powerful Coyotes held a 22-6 lead by the third quarter; and Waldrop's last quarter touchdown was futile.

After nipping Scot hopes in the bud, the Coyotes proceeded to give Pasadena a sound drubbing for the State Championship.

Pep assemblies, bonfires, and afternoon rallies helped boost Scot spirit. The fans turned out in all weather to back the team and to follow the Golden Avalanche from the first game to the semi-final play-offs.

Team Finishes Fourth in District

Although the Hi Park cagers came out behind on the won-lost record, they provided students with some fast and exciting basketball. Coach Ralph Binnion, leading one of the least-experienced teams in his 19 years of coaching at Hi Park, started a different five players almost every game.

The slow-starting Scots didn't chalk up a winning mark until their third pre-district game, when they scored a 50 to 46 victory over Irving. As the season progressed, the Scots gained experience, but the other teams also improved.

In their non-district play the roundballers managed victories over Irving, Ball of Galveston, Sherman, and North Side of Fort Worth, losing to such fine teams as Thomas Jefferson and Garland.

Cagers Battle Till Final Buzzer Ends Season Play

Sounding off on the district play with a downbeat of victory, the Scots handed Denison a 53 to 52 defeat. However, the music soon turned to the blues for Ralph Binnion's inexperienced crew. The hard-fighting Scots were able to come through with only two district victories, but fought a tough battle, losing to District Champion Garland by only two points, 69 to 71.

Two Scot players received district recognition for their fine play. Jimmy Hudnall was named All-District guard, while Pete Klindworth was the All-District Second Team center.

Scots Meet 7AAAA Powers

Squeezed out of the district title in 1958 by Thomas Jefferson, the baseball squad looked like a potential winner in 1959.

With nine returning lettermen and several "B" teamers and sophomores, the team posted an early victory over Sunset. The season opened March 2, a tie game with Hillcrest. District play began March 24, when the Scots batted against Denison.

Outstanding prospects among this year's players included Co-captains Jack Allday and Drue Houghton. Catcher Allday and Pitcher Houghton were returning lettermen. Also on the list of outstanding players were Billy Gannon, center fielder; Kent Johnson, pitcher; and sophomore Danny Thomas.

Tradition Kept by Netters

Known for its fine tennis, Highland Park carried on the tradition with Coach Raymond Akin's 1959 version of a Davis Cup team. The netters entered most of the large tournaments which lead to district, regional, and state play, including the Wichita Falls and San Antonio tourneys.

Lettermen returning from the 1959 team are Ronny Cole, Ken Crumley, and Captain Robert Miller. Sophomores who placed high in early tournament play were Paul Stotts and Gerry Still.

Linksmen Drive to Early Wins

Boasting a heavy schedule and fine early season play, the 1959 golf team polished off Arlington Heights twice and Amarillo once in dual competition, leading to the larger tournaments in Wichita Falls, Fort Worth, Galveston, and Brownwood. Also on the 1959 schedule were dual tournaments with Denton and Woodrow Wilson.

In district play last year the Scots defeated Woodrow Wilson to take the crown, but were defeated by this same team in the regional tournament.

"B" Teams Prepare

Closing a fine season, the Hi Park "B" football team boasted a 6-1-1 record. The Blue Shirts' outstanding win was against Honey Grove, the seventh-ranked Class "A" football squad, which they beat 28-0.

"The boys had great desire," said Head Coach Cy Young, "and they wanted to win."

Promising good basketball material for 1960, the "B" team cagers emerged with a 10-3 record for the season. Losing only to North Side and Thomas Jefferson, the roundballers defeated all the 7AAAA "B" teams.

Mostly made up of sophomores who had played together at Junior Hi, the "B" baseball team looked capable of producing good material for future Hi Park "A" teams.

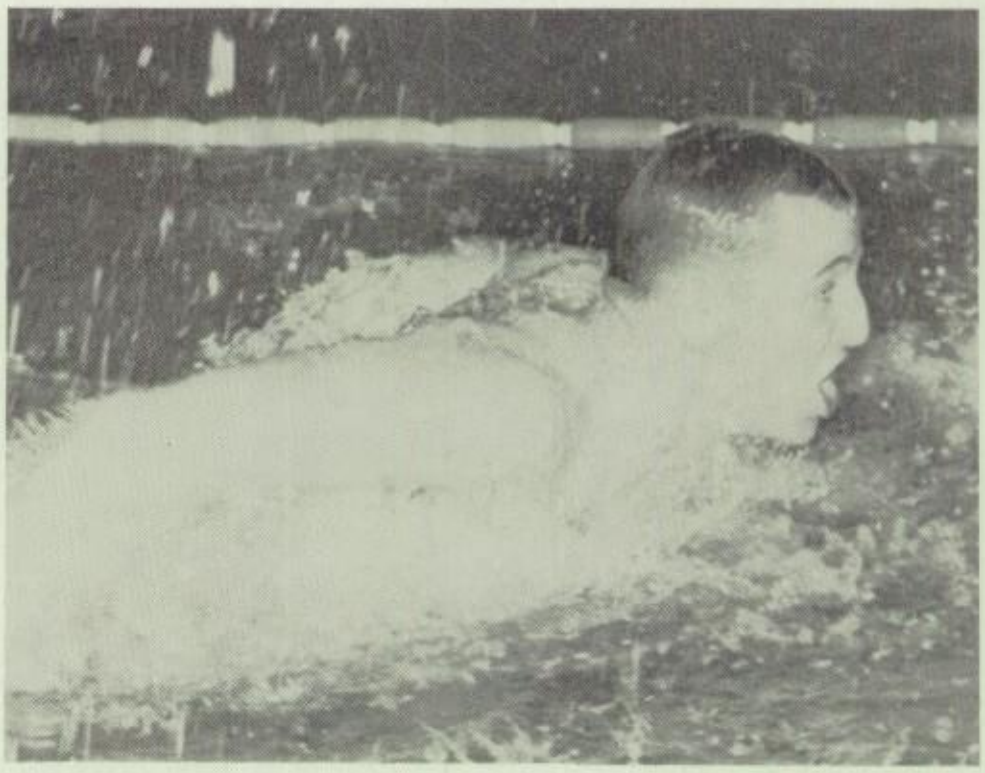
Tankers Splash Toward State

Proving that Highland Park is still a power in Texas high school swimming circles, the 1959 Scot swimmers, led by Captain Dave Duwe, placed in all early meets of the season with dual meet victories over Paschal and the SMU Freshmen and a second place in the SMU relays.

Third places in team totals were chalked up by the Scot splashers in both the Wichita Falls Invitational Championship and the Texas University Championship. Before the state meet on March 21, were scheduled two dual meets with Wichita Falls and the SMU Freshmen.

Members of the 1958 Scot team who placed in the '58 state meet and who were big gainers in 1959 are Duwe, David Fair, Bob Hatcher, and Leon Hodges. All-American candidate Duwe holds the 100-yard butterfly event record in the state meet and in all major Texas high school meets. Dave's best time in the century is 57.4 seconds.



Captain Dave Duwe splashes his way to victory in a dual meet with Paschal.

Doubles Team Takes State

Climaxing the 1958 season, in which the girls' tennis team won all their interschool competitions, the Wichita Falls Tournament, and the Alamo Heights Tournament, Jean Van Tassel and Jean Johannes won the state championship in doubles competition. In singles competition Nancy Davis reached the state semi-finals.

Boasting three returning lettermen, the tennis team is looking forward to another fine season.

GAA Unites Top Athletes

To give outstanding players a chance to enter stiff competition, the Girls' Athletic Association was formed two years ago. However, in this organization sportsmanship and teamwork are just as important as skill.

GAA All-Star teams are selected by sponsors Mrs. Gynne Manson and Miss Jayne Murchison to participate in speedball, basketball, volleyball, softball, and swimming. Recognition for making an All-Star team is a felt patch which designates the sport and the number of years the girl has made this team. Members of the winning GAA team receive a gold charm after the championship game.

Aside from the games, which are played after school, the GAA offers other activities. This year the Highland Park chapter of the GAA sent a representative, Carol Martin, to a convention held here in Dallas to discuss the state girls' recreational Intramurals gives every Hi Park girl a chance to participate in after-school sports. Participants form their own teams and play in either the Tuesday-Thursday or the Monday-Wednesday leagues.

Intramural Sports include ping-pong, tenniquoits, basketball, volleyball, badminton, and softball. Contests are either round-robin or elimination tournaments.

Juniors Lose Powder Bowl Again

Juniorhood—the in-between stage in high school's social structure. Juniors elected their own representatives-at-large to the Student Council, Sammy Burford and Karen Shea, and began to participate in more school organizations.

Powder Bowl, the first major junior activity, followed the traditional pattern. The seniors won.

Spring elections were the next big events in junior year. Combined with the excitement of electing their own officers was the Junior-Senior Prom. Rounding out a busy year were the ordering of senior rings and the National Merit Scholarship Exams.

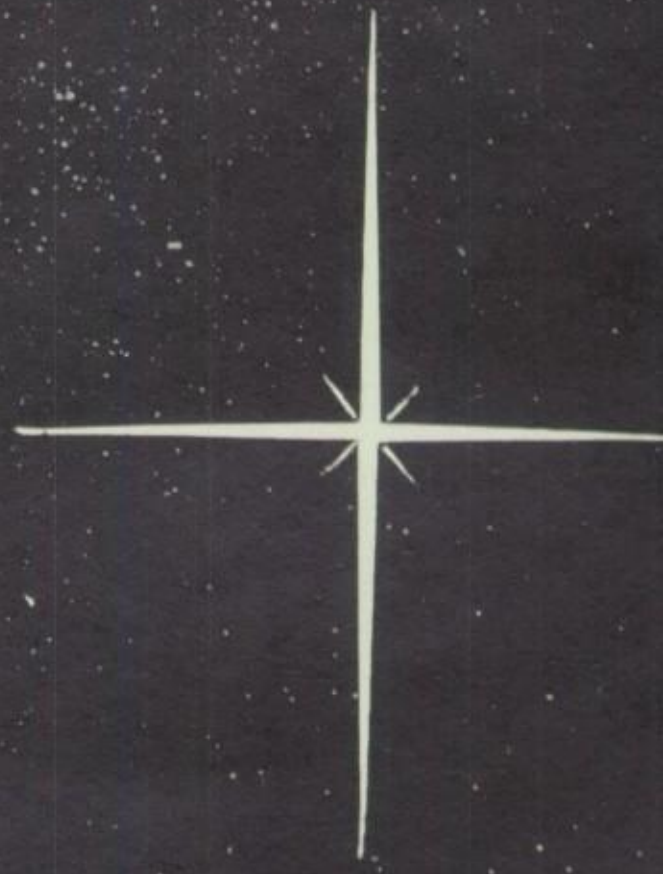
ARE YOU SURE THIS IS THE DAY OF THE BIG GAME? wonder tardy Editor-in-Chief Dobby Sherman and Business Manager Gretchen Bickel, as they display the spirit of American youth.

TAYLOR PUBLISHING COMPANY
"The World's Best Yearbooks Are Taylor-made"
YEARBOOKS



The night has a thousand eyes

And the day but one;

Yet the light of the bright world dies

With the dying sun.

Esther Roberts is swamped by starved seniors at a baseball game.

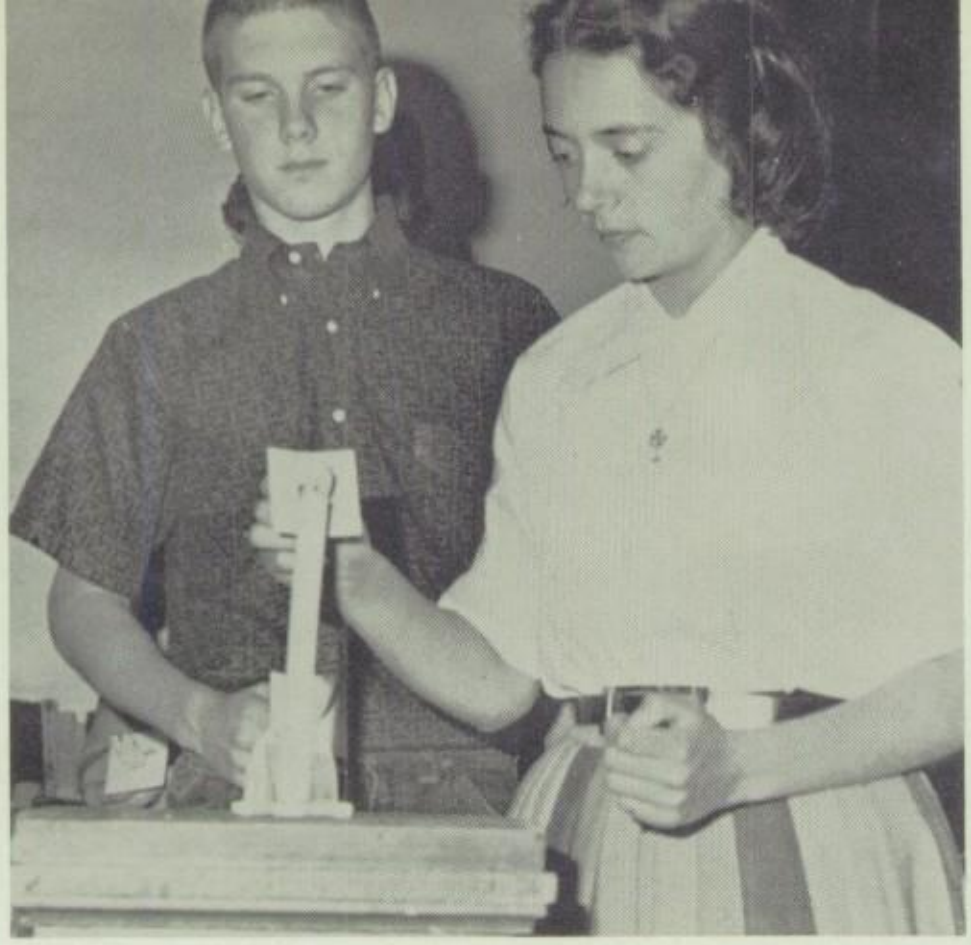
School Activities Reach Peak in Spring

Baseball Sweetheart Linda Shepard receives red roses and congratulations from Captain Drue Houghton.

"Hey, how does this thing work?" wonders Miss Raithel, co-sponsor of the new Radio Club.

"Romans" Attend

"Double, double . . ." chant dramatics students Carolyn O'Neil and Nancy Hemphill, as they present an act from "Macbeth" at the P-TA Open House.



Spring NHS members were H12's Gretchen Bickel, Judy Board, Mary Margaret Coit, Lee Cuninggim, Charles Finney, Richard Haroz, Genie Haskins, Ray Held, Wayne Hillin, Trina Hooks, Gay Jurgens, Bill Kramer, Linda Lewis, Francoise Loup, Juanita Pimentel, Judy Rager, Joan Spradlin, Mary Wheeler, Harriet Williams, Lynne Woods, Mary Jane York; L12's Jodi Boyle, Frances Terry, John West; H11's Sammy Burford, Mimi Johnston, Nancy Lea, Julie Malouf, Lucy Meinhardt, Betsy Monroe, Grier Raggio, Deanna Riedel, Rob See, Nancy Silberberger.

Banquet in Togas

Banquets, baseball, and the P-TA Open House heralded the arrival of spring and March at Hi Park.

District baseball began, a baseball sweetheart was chosen, and the student body named six Ugly Man nominees. Also named were new head football coach Mr. Rutledge and new senior sponsor Mr. Cutler.

Posters, papers, and projects were assembled and sorted for the P-TA Open House, which many parents attended, while Latin students, dressed in togas and tunics, participated in the annual Latin banquet.

Jack Travers (Don MacIver), encounters "Tony," or Diane Dusek.

Mrs. Griffith leads the orchestra in the overture to "The Firefly."

Musical, Dramatic

A cruise to Bermuda and a New York society dance were the background scenes for "The Firefly," an operetta presented by the Lads and Lassies choir and the orchestra. Written by Rudolph Friml, the musical was directed by Miss Flora Lee Pope. Assistant directors were Betty Gessell and Harriet Williams, while stage manager was Ronnie Cresswell. Mrs. Doris Griffith conducted the orchestra, and Jim Caraway was in charge of stage settings.

Diane Dusek and Don MacIver took the leads in the part of Nina, an Italian street singer, and Jack Travers, a society man. Jack's uncle, Thurston, was David Davenport, while Jack's sweetheart Geraldine was portrayed by Nancy Rosen. Lynne Weintraub, James Gibson, Steve Blum, Merilyn May, and Ken Crumley played Mrs. Van Dare, Herr Franz, Jenkins, Suzette, and Pietro.

Herr Franz (James Gibson) is astounded when Nina reveals her true identity.

Singing a duet are Suzette (Merilyn May) and Jenkins (Steve Blum).

Chuck Finney (Merton) strikes a pose for home town girl friend Nancy Cherry (Tessie).

Setting the pace for the 1959 senior play, "Merton of the Movies," was the era of the roaring twenties.

The hero, Merton Gill (Chuck Finney), a shy, gangling boy from Simsbury, Illinois, goes to Hollywood to become a "dramatic" actor. The movie directors, however, conspire to make Merton a comedy star. Flip Montague (Doris Averitt), a stunt girl, befriends Merton and is of great importance to him as he climbs the ladder of success.

Highlighting the play were movie scenes from the silent film days, featuring such "stars" as Charlie Chaplin, Betty Boop, Rudolph Valentino, and the Keystone Cops.

Mrs. Mary Crow directed the play, while Nancy Hemphill was assistant director and Ralph Shanks worked as stage manager.

"More tears, more tears!" Bob Jones (Von Stroheim) urges Carolyn O'Neil (Muriel) as she acts before the camera.

Doris Averitt (Flip) tries to calm Merton.

Diamondsmen Slam to Bi-District Crown

Just a game away from the state tournament, the 1959 Hi Park baseball team dropped the regional contest to Paschal of Fort Worth. The diamondsmen previously had taken the district trophy with a 7-1 district record.

The Blue-and-Gold had played the bi-district game against Lufkin, losing the first match 6 to 0. With the pitching of Danny Thomas and Jim Carpenter, the Scots came back to win the next two games, 4 to 1 and 5 to 4, in an exciting double-header.

Meeting Paschal in regional, the Scots again lost the first game, winning the second, 4 to 2. Scot errors and inspired Paschal playing turned a ninth inning Scot lead into an 8 to 5 loss in the final game with Paschal High.

Track Team Takes District 7AAAA Title

Winning the district championship and sending two representatives to the state meet in Austin, the Hi Park track team made a traditionally fine showing in 1959.

The Scots captured the Dal-Hi Meet title in late March, while a trip to Fort Worth and the Cowtown Relays yielded a second place berth behind the future AAAA champs, Abilene.

Denton was host to the other four schools at the District 7 meet, which the Scots won by a wide margin. Sprinter Philip Reilly set two records and tied another in the meet, while the 440 relay team also set a district record.

In the Regional Meet at SMU the record-setting sprint relay team met with a mishap which cost them a trip to state. However, both Reilly and Billy Gannon qualified for the state meet. At state Reilly copped a third place in the 220, while Gannon placed sixth in the broad jump.

Golf, Tennis Boast District Wins;

Denton was the scene of the Highland Park dominated District 7AAAA meets. The Blue-and-Gold swept through the district competition to place first in golf, tennis, and track, while the swimming team took second in state.

The Scot linksmen had the best team total, a combined score of 622 on 36 holes, with the fine game of the top foursome, Tommy Abbott, John Colwick, Kenny Goldman, and Sandy McDonough.

Just a few blocks away the Scot tennis team waltzed through all divisions of both the boys' and the girls' competition. The top-ranked girls' doubles team of Jean Van Tassel and Jean Johannes went on to win regional and their second state championship.

Finishing second in state to the powerful Lamar High of Houston were the Hi Park tankers, who, under a new coach, made their usual top showing.
